

A black and white photograph of a sunlit path through trees. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright glow and long shadows. The path is paved and has a white curb. The trees are dense and their branches are silhouetted against the bright sky.

Yahweh, I will persevere in prayer,
allowing You to change my attitude.